It's Fun and Easy!

Elizabeth, Queen of the Seas is a delightful story of Elizabeth, a southern elephant seal, and her choice to live among people. It's a marvelous piece that exhibits a strong sense of belonging and community.

Tip #1 – Elizabeth, Queen of the Seas has beautiful illustrations on each page. The images are realistic and yet stylized, which brings the story to life. The illustrations allow children to follow along with the story more easily.

Tip #2 – Elizabeth, Queen of the Seas has a paragraph or two on each set of pages. This writing style enables a parent, guardian, or loved one to read aloud to or with his/her/their child. The longer text is ideal for a reader who enjoys a challenge, but it is still a picture book with eye-catching illustrations for those who are visual.

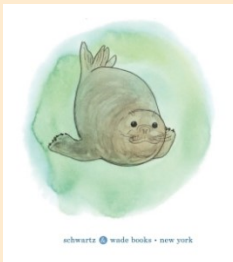

Tip #3 – The story depicts a real-life story of Elizabeth the southern elephant seal living among people in New Zealand. The story describes their adventures and challenges, and what it means to belong. This story is excellent to discuss with children and to see how they feel about communities.

Did You Know?

Southern elephant seals are found all across the southern hemisphere of our planet. They can range in size from around two thousand pounds upwards of over eight thousand pounds. It is the largest member of the seal family, and the largest marine mammal outside of the cetacean group, which includes whales and dolphins. This mammal is also the protagonist of May's Book Club selection, Elizabeth, Queen of the Seas.

This story focuses on a southern elephant seal named Elizabeth who chose to live in a river by the city instead of the ocean with other seals.

It is based on the true story of Elizabeth and her adventures of living in New Zealand. Be sure to look out for further information and photo in the back of the book to learn more!

Bringing the Story to Life!

Discuss the Book: Elizabeth, Queen of the Sea

When you discuss the book-of-month with your child after reading it with them you reinforce the learning. Here are a few suggestions on ways to make your reading experience interactive: You can ask your child, why the people in the town towed Elizabeth back to sea and why did Elizabeth kept coming back to the town?

Seal Snack

You can extend the learning into snack time by making a seal snack. You will need an apple, three grapes and a few slivers of almond or carrot shreds. Slice the apple into round pieces then, cut one of the slices in half. You will use the large round slice for the seal's face and the halves for his flippers. Use the grapes, almonds and carrot shreds to create a face.

Shape Seal

Teach your child about shapes while using circles to create your own seal. You will need paper, glue, scissors and your imagination.
